The Judicial Redistricting Bill will not pass. So we will remain in Judge Riddell's district.

ALL Honor to the Kentucky Senate for the failure of the Judicial Redistricting Bill. This was a very wicked measure and it got what it deserved at the hands of the Senate. It would never have passed the House had a free and fair discussion of it been permitted.

We should all be very very grateful to the Press of Kentucky and especially to the Courier Journal, for the great fight made against the Judicial Redistricting Bill.

No Need for New District.

The ardent supporters of the Judicial Redistricting Bill which has been pending in the Legislature for the past week are making a plaintive howl that the docket of Breathitt county is so crowded that the litigants cannot be heard for and that a much longer term of Circuit Court is needed. Lord and long are the arguments intended to convince the Kentucky Legislature that it is their duty to make this change in order that the term of court in this county may be lengthened and more time be allotted for the clearing of this crowded docket. Where is the consistency in their position? To whom do they expect to carry conviction by their hollow arguments?

To those who contend that the length of the present term is too short, we append here a statement from the Circuit Court Clerk of Breathitt County. It shows that there was only one felony case tried at the last term of court in which Judge Redwine presided and that there were only a little more than one hundred pages of record made on the order book at that term of court. It explains itself:

State of Kentucky.
Breathitt Circuit Court.

I, W. D. Hack, Clerk of the Breathitt Circuit Court, do hereby certify that at the November Term, 1903, of the Breathitt Circuit Court that there were fifty-seven pages of record made on the Civil Order book now in my office, and I further certify that there were fifty-six pages of record made on the Commonwealth's Order book now in my office. That one case of murder was tried at said term of court and the court was two days trying said case as now appears from the records of my office. This was the only felony case tried at said term. There was a felony case tried, but the charge was reduced to a misdemeanor and the defendant was convicted and fined.

Given under my hand as Clerk of said Court, this 15th day of February, 1904.

W. D. Hack C. C. C.

Among those who went to Frankfort this week to protest against the passage of the Judicial Redistricting Bill were the following: Judge Riddell, Charlie Friend, and Mr. Wallace of Estill County, F. A. Lyon, Thomas Johnson and Mr. Sutton of Lee County, A. H.
Langstaff and W. O. Mize of Wolfe County, Judge Roberts, Judge Baker, Robert Amburgy and Mr. Francis of Knox County and Judge C. X. Bowling and the writer, from Breathitt county.

Washington's Birthday Exercises

Next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock the annual declamatory contest will be held at the Lees Collegiate Institute.
The program will be interspersed with good music, which will add much to the pleasure of the entertainment.
All friends of the school are cordially invited to be present. In honor of our first president, George Washington There will be no school Monday.

AX HANDLES.

Heart or Sap Wood—Curved or Straight—Hanging the Ax.

When buying an ax handle always select one that is made entirely from the sap wood or the heart wood, but never one that is made partly of each, for it will split along the line of union.
Handles made from sap wood are more elastic and better for chopping, and a man will not tire or get sore so quickly when using one, says an Orange Judd Farmer correspondent.

I prefer those made from the heart wood for splitting, although they are not so durable. The proper length and curve of the handle depend upon the habit and method of chopping of the user. With a long handle a man will strike a much harder blow, but with a short handle he will strike oftener, so there is practically no difference in the work accomplished.

The curve, too, depends upon the habit of the user. A curved handle has no advantage over the one that is perfectly straight. Most people prefer the curved because they are accustomed to its use. As a rule, the straight handle is more durable. The size of the handle depends upon the muscular development of the user. If it is too small it will cramp the fingers, and if too large it will lame the hands and wrists.

If one will examine the end of a piece of wood he will see that it is made of layers, each layer representing the growth of one year. Wood splits much more easily along these lines than across them; hence when AX HANDLES AND AXES.

selecting an ax handle always choose one in which the layers are parallel with the line of force, as shown in Fig.
1. If they are at right angles, as in Fig. 2, a few days' use will cause the handle to split along the dotted lines shown. The difference in quality in this respect is so marked that many dealers sort their handles and make the price of one about double that of the other.

In handling an ax considerable attention should be paid to the kind of work which is to be done. For small wood hanging an ax pointing in, as shown in Fig. 3. For very large trees hang it squarely across or at right angles to the handle, and for splitting, especially black wood, hang it out according to Fig. 4. This gives one a chance to strike a heavy blow squarely across the back, using the whole lift of the ax, and without making a throe-some head of the back with every blow.
The relative position of the blade and handle may be changed by inserting a small wedge in the eye of the ax, either above or below the handle, as occasion may require.

Alfalfa in Western Nebraska.
As yet alfalfa is a new thing to a large percentage of the stockmen of Cherry county, but the acreage increases every season. J. H. Batcher, a big stockman, seeded forty acres to alfalfa a year ago last May, cut three times during the season and got a ton to the acre each time. He believes alfalfa growing will be one of the important factors of the live stock business of western Nebraska within the next few years. In speaking of his venture Mr. Batcher says: "The first essential to its success is honest soil. Those who have tried it find that it thrives on bluestem ground and gives the best of satisfaction. When a ranchman gets three tons of feed off one acre of ground he is making two blades of grass grow where one grew before and more. Those who have grown it are sure to predict that it will cut a big figure in the range countries in time. As a result of my experience I am going to break up a hundred acres for alfalfa next spring.
I am going to investigate methods of seedling, and if I find that it can be successfully grown on sod I will seed the ground right after it is turned."— Orange Judd Farmer.

Ethics from the Press.
When scolding a hog put it in a sack or trough and throw three or four handfuls of air shod blue over it, then put it in your boiling water. It will make the bristles fly, says an Orange Judd Farmer correspondent.

Cannibals of Africa are said to prefer pork to human meat. Savage practices have thus been checked by cultural methods, and the pig attracts attention as the greatest civilization of the age.

Fourteen ounces of pins welded into a solid mass were found in a cow's stomach at one of the Chicago packing houses. That cow must have been full of good points.

This going to a farm for a living is serious business, with the chances against any one who thinks that farming is a soft job or an easy business to learn.

Farmers in sentiment occupy a middle ground between capital and labor, with little sympathy for the method of either.

Pure food laws should not be algebraically to the honest citizen, while the practices of the dishonest class should be checked by legislation.

Farmers who fail to read regularly think in ruts.

Another Fire.

The residence of N. H. Combs on Broadway was burned this morning about four o'clock.
The fire caught from a closet near the central part of the house and was all in flames when first discovered.
Nothing was saved, the family barely being able to escape with their lives.

Breeding and Feeding Cattle For Beef

Good quality is seldom found in the plainly bred steer and generally found in the well bred, high grade animal, says Professor H. W. Mumford of Illinois College of Agriculture. The desirability of general quality cannot be too strongly emphasized. While it is a characteristic that involves many points and is difficult to describe, its presence or absence is quickly noted by the trained eye of the intelligent buyer.

It is this characteristic in the stockers and feeders more than any other that we depend upon as indicating that the animal has within it the possibility of making a market topper or at any rate a prime steer.

The ability to select stockers and feeders which have within them the possibility of making prime steers is one of the first and most important lessons for stockmen to learn. Traits in steer feeding come not so much from skill in feeding and management as from intelligent buying and selling.
The profit resulting from an increase during the fattening period of the value per pound of the total weight of the animal is as important as that resulting from the method employed in the feeding and management. It is seldom possible to produce at a profit gains which do not increase the value per pound of the total weight of the animal; hence the importance of intelligent buying or the selection of stockers and feeders of good quality.

A Smithfield Champion.
The Breeder's Gazette's English correspondent sent the accompanying picture of Miss Charles, one of the champions of the recent Smithfield show.

"Few people dreamed of the champion prize going to the cross Shorthorn-Aberdeen-Angus heifer shown by Mr. Batchelor of Sussex, but bred in

MISS CHARLES.

Scotland," writes the correspondent.
"This animal certainly was a marvel for size and substance, her weight being about nineteen hundredweight at two years, ten months and three weeks old, but the intemperately objected to the quality of the meat and declared that it was little better than cow beef.
This doubtless was an exaggeration, but the general favorite for the chief honors, Mr. J. I. Ordland's Aberdeen-Angus steer, just under three years, weighing seventeen hundredweight and bred by Mr. J. H. Bridges of Long shott, Surrey, would certainly furnish a far better body of beef with much less loss of weight, was a better specimen and of a pure breed."

Cattle For the Feed Lot.

The right way to buy cattle for the feed lot is a problem requiring to be settled for each individual case. To say they must be bought low and sold well is a mere juggle of words which means nothing in a specific case.
When? How? Where? What kind?
What weight and what price? are questions that the prospective buyer must fully consider.

The first and perhaps the most important point to be settled is what class of cattle to buy. Only cattle of the same general age, class, weight and breeding should go into the same feed lot. Look out for uniformity. A mixed lot of big and little, rough and smooth, grades and scrubs will not furnish the best results as well as a uniform lot. Decide on your class and then stick to it. When this is done you can figure with some degree of accuracy upon the three important factors of the question, cost, price, feed bill and probable gain per day or ratio between feed and gain.

Inoculation For Tuberculosis.
The state of Pennsylvania deserves great credit for its provision to thoroughly test the inoculation of cattle to prevent tuberculosis. Experiments are to be continued on a large scale. About ten head of cattle are to be used this winter on a farm provided for this purpose. Thus far the evidence is favorable to the theory that cattle may be made immune to tuberculosis by inoculation, and if further experiments confirm this the money spent in the investigation will have been one of the best investments of public funds ever made.—Stockman and Farmer.

How to Polish Horses.

A Missouri cattle breeder gives the following method of polishing horses: Make the horse smooth and even with a course file or rasp and then take a fine sandstone and water and rub the file marks out; then take a fine whetstone in water stone is best, and rub out all marks, as the least scratch will show when polished. Then get some tripoli (or, as the railroad men call it, tripoli), wet as much of it as you want to use, then with a rag of your kind rub the horse with it (you can hardly rub too much); then polish with the palm of the hand. Don't be afraid to bear on and rub quick. Polishing water will not take the polish off.
They will take any color wanted by bolting them in some kind of dye.

Course Fodder as Feed.

Generally speaking, horses digest the bulky and fibrous part of their food less thoroughly than do cattle, and hence very coarse fodder pays better fed to cows than to horses.

OFF TO SANTO DOMINGO.

Yankee Marines embarked at Colorad, Feb. 15.—Hurried orders from Washington were received to embark a battalion of marines on the Prairie. A special train left Colon and returned with the 650 marines who were embarked at San Obispo station, on the Panama railroad. The Prairie's boats were kept busy all day Sunday embarking the camp fittings, baggage, stores, etc., and this task is not yet finished. Major Lucas will command the battalion and the Prairie will sail at once with sealed orders. It has leaked out here that the marines are destined for Santo Domingo. Only about 100 marines now remain at San Obispo.

Lynching Averted.
Roanoke, Va., Feb. 12.—Henry Williams, colored, who was arrested at North Fork, W. Va., Tuesday on suspicion of having committed a murderous assault and outrage on Mrs.
George L. Shields and her 3-year-old daughter in their home here on Jan.
30, made a full confession of the crime. He was placed on a special train and rushed through to Richmond under a heavy guard. The train passed Roanoke at a speed of 40 miles an hour, and Williams will be placed in the state penitentiary for safe keeping, the feeling being such that the authorities are satisfied it would be unwise to bring him here at this time.

Proclaims Neutrality.
Washington, Feb. 12.—President Roosevelt issued a proclamation declaring the neutrality of this government in the Russo-Japanese war. The preamble recites the fact that war exists between Russia and Japan and that the United States is on terms of friendship with both nations. The laws of neutrality are then set forth forbidding the aiding or arming, seeking to enlist or enlisting of any person to aid either of the belligerents, or soliciting enlistments or aid while in the United States to go beyond the limits of the United States to enlist, etc. The law is stated in 11 sections, covering all phases of the question.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiatic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

The present winter is without paralel within the memory of the oldest citizens of this section, since the twenty-fifth day of last November we have had one continuous disagreeable a terrible feature of the weather that we have not had so much mud on the was last winter. It is not too late yet for the mud to appear, and if the general thaw of Spring is so lingering and continuous as the freezing of the people of Jackson are to be pitted.

EVERSOLE

We had a quiet little wedding last Thursday at 3 o'clock. Charley Callahan, of this place, and Miss Caroline Bryant, of Breathitt county, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock.
The groom is the youngest son of America Callahan, and is a good and quiet citizen. The bride is a very beautiful daughter of George and Sarah Bryant and just 16 years old.
We anticipate a happy future for the newly married couple.

Born: To the wife of G. B. Wilson, of Cow Creek, last Monday night, a girl; Wednesday night to the wife of Louis Gibson, a fine boy; Thursday night to the wife of James Young, a boy. There are a few precincts I have not heard from.

Mr. Clark has moved his saw mill from Cow Creek to L. C. Rose's.

Mr. Bowman, of Indiana, was here last week buying logs.

Everybody who has legs to run are very busy rafting them.

We regret that one of Rob't Callahan's twins died Saturday and was buried Sunday. They have our deepest sympathy.

William Napier, of Mill Branch, Lee county, has bought out Ezekiel Spencer on Meadow Creek. Price paid $700.

A satisfied customer is the best advertisement. Our customers advertise us.

Alex Bush, of Zachariah, conductor on the R. & B. S. R., was seriously if not fatally hurt while coupling cars last Thursday. Bush was standing on the inside of a stiff curve and when he stopped between the cars to adjust the couplings the corners of the cars came together on Bush with crushing force.
Eighteen months ago Richard Riggs, now working for the Kentucky Lumber and Veneering Co. of Breathitt county, was acting as conductor on the R. & B. S. and was badly hurt in very much the same way as Bush.

NOTICE!

We have been engaged for the past two years in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky buying and taking up mineral and timber lands for Eastern capitalists. We have at this time completed the larger portion of our work and we desire to say to the people of Breathitt and adjoining counties that we are now ready to take up all our cases in this Judicial District, which has been neglected on account of our work in the coal fields. You will find one or both of us in our office in the Old Hag-gis Building, during all business hours.

Yours very truly,

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been demonstrated that pneumonia one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have contended with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale
